MARIA'S CROSTOLI

"My mother Maria was studying to be a nun and working as a nanny in Rome when she met my dad. He and his friend were moving to Canada, and that friend was dating my mom's sister. Right before he left, he got her address, and they wrote to each other. She moved to Canada in 1962, up to Kirkland Lake. My dad worked in the mines there — and they were married. Mom made her crostoli all the time. A lot of my friends grew up in her kitchen, and to this day, everyone still talks about them. We each had our little part in making them. I remember my dad always sprinkled the sugar on at the end. As hard and time-consuming as the process was, the rewards of eating them made you forget. I always wanted to open my own Mamma Maria's Crostoli Factory."

CROSTOLI OR “RIBBON COOKIES” ARE TRADITIONAL ITALIAN PASTRIES THAT ARE LIGHTLY FRIED AND DUSTED WITH ICING SUGAR.

DIFFICULTY: Level 3

PREPARATION: 90 minutes

YIELDS: 50 to 60 crostoli

COOK TIME: 30 minutes

INGREDIENTS

2 cups (500 mL) all-purpose flour

2 egg yolks

1 egg

1/4 cup (60 mL) evaporated milk

1/4 cup (60 mL) dark rum or grappa

2 tbs (30 mL) GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, melted

2 tsp (10 mL) vanilla

1-1/2 tsp (7 mL) salt

Zest of 1 lemon

Vegetable oil for frying

Icing sugar for decorating

INSTRUCTIONS

Mound flour on work surface; make a well in centre. Add egg yolks, egg, evaporated milk, rum, butter, vanilla, salt and zest into the well. Using fork, starting at the inside edge and working around well, blend the wet ingredients slowly gathering in flour to form a dough. On lightly floured surface, knead the dough, until smooth and no longer sticky, about 5 minutes. Shape into rectangle; wrap in plastic wrap. Let stand for 1 hour.

On lightly floured surface, roll out dough into 1/8-inch (3 mm) thickness. A pasta machine works great. The secret is in the thinness of the rolled dough. The thinner the better!

Cut dough into rectangles 5- x 2-inches (12 x 5 cm). Cut a slit lengthwise in the middle leaving 1-inch (2.5 cm) on either end. In large pot, heat 3-inches (7.5 cm) or more of oil to 375°F (190°C) over medium heat. Fry a few crostoli at a time, until crisp and golden, a few seconds on each side. Drain on paper towel. Repeat with remaining dough, adjusting heat as necessary.

Sift icing sugar evenly and generously over top of each crostoli.

"My grandmother came from Austria on a boat by herself when she was seventeen. Her parents sent her to Canada to escape anti-Semitism in Europe. She came through New York and hopped on a train to Toronto, where her sister already lived. Granny was the master of her kitchen. She was in charge. She didn't want any help but loved when you were there to talk with her. It was often only me. That's where I got my love of baking. It was absolutely a labour of love. She baked all of our favourites on Shabbos and for all the holidays. Her apple cake is delicious, and it's my family's favourite."

DORA'S APPLE CAKE

WITH SUCCULENT APPLES, AND LITTLE SPICE, THE LAYERS OF THIS MOIST CAKE WILL SURPRISE AND DELIGHT WITH EACH BITE.

DIFFICULTY: Level 2

PREPARATION: 30 minutes

YIELDS: 16 servings

COOK TIME: 50-60 minutes

INGREDIENTS

1 cup (250 mL) GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, softened
1 cup (250 mL) granulated sugar
1 tsp (5 mL) vanilla extract
1/2 tsp (2 mL) almond extract, optional
2 eggs
1-1/2 cups (375 mL) all-purpose flour
2 tsp (10 mL) baking powder
7 small granny smith apples, cored, peeled and thinly sliced
1/2 cup (125 mL) lightly packed brown sugar
2 tsp (10 mL) ground cinnamon

INSTRUCTIONS

Preheat oven to 350°F (180°C). Lightly grease 9-inch (23 cm) square metal baking pan.

In large bowl, with electric mixer on medium speed, beat together butter, sugar, vanilla and almond extract, if using, until light and fluffy. Add eggs, 1 at a time, beating to combine after each addition.

In separate bowl, whisk together flour and baking powder. Add flour mixture to butter mixture all at once and beat on medium-low speed to combine.

Place half the batter in prepared pan and spread evenly. In large bowl, toss apples with sugar and cinnamon. Evenly place apples on top of the batter, pressing down lightly to pack. Top apples with remaining batter spreading as evenly as possible. Some apples will break through and this is perfect!

Bake for 50 to 60 minutes until nicely browned and tester in centre comes out clean. Let cool in pan on rack.

Cut into squares; serve and enjoy!

"I have yet to come across a single person who has not complimented these cookies. I first remember baking them with my mom as a young child in Zambia, where I was born. She would bake them for birthdays and on Christmas, and I would get to sprinkle them with rainbow sprinkles to decorate them. The cookies got their name from people liking them so much. Everyone always asked if they could have some more! When we came to Canada in the 1990s, we baked and shared these cookies with all of our friends and family. I shared them with my co-workers too. They all loved them very much, and some even offered to purchase them.

Our cookies bring joy wherever they go!"

DIFFICULTY: Level 1

PREPARATION: 20 minutes

INGREDIENTS

3-3/4 cups (925 mL) all-purpose flour

1 tbsp (15 mL) baking powder

1/4 tsp (1 mL) salt

1 lb (454 g) GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, softened

1-1/3 cups (325 mL) icing sugar, sifted

1-1/4 cups (300 mL) cornstarch, sifted

On lightly floured surface, knead dough a few times until it holds shape well and rolls easily. Roll out dough to 1/4-inch (5 mm) thickness. With 2-inch (5 cm) round cookie cutter, cut out circles. With spatula, place cookies 2-inches (5 cm) apart on prepared baking sheet. Sprinkle with rainbow sprinkles as desired. Bake for 10 to 15 minutes. Let cool for 3 minutes on pan on rack. Transfer to rack; let cool completely. Repeat with remaining dough.

Enjoy and have some more!

"My grandma made these squares for every holiday because they were our favourite — all nine grandchildren. We loved being in the kitchen with her learning how to bake them. After she passed away, I shared this recipe with all my cousins. One of them made the squares and was not happy with the results. The icing was just not the right colour. It was white, and grandma's icing was always a caramel colour. It took me a while to remember exactly how grandma had made the icing. Of course, she used the same pot she used to make the base. Why dirty another pot? It was the cocoa that was left in the pot that tinted the icing to create the caramel colour. We all still love these squares. They're different from anything else we bake, and I've never seen them at a bake sale or anywhere else."

"Granny Elizabeth was a firecracker, and she knew how to make a mean pie crust! It was buttery, flaky, and always baked to perfection. No matter what the filling, the wow factor was always in this crust. Every year, for the holidays, Granny and I would bake a different pie, but always with the same crust. As I got older, I began to realize that it really was perfect — not only because the recipe was so good, but because we always made it together, just the two of us in the kitchen, lost in conversation. Granny Elizabeth found a way to create amazing memories through baking, telling stories, and sharing moments that I will never forget. I would always leave with my belly filled with pie; but more importantly my mind filled with unsolicited advice that could only come from Granny. I look forward to the day when I can do the same with my children."

GRANNY ELIZABETH'S PIE CRUST

THIS BUTTERY, FLAKY RECIPE IS PERFECT FOR ANY PIE FROM APPLE TO ZUCCHINI!

DIFFICULTY: Level 1
PREPARATION: 15 minutes

YIELDS: 1 pie crust
CHILL TIME: 1 hour

INGREDIENTS

1-1/3 cups (325 mL) all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp (2 mL) kosher salt
1 tbsp (15 mL) granulated sugar (add only if you're making a sweet pie)
1/2 cup (125 mL) cold GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, cut into 1-inch (2.5 cm) pieces
2 to 3 tbsp (30 to 45 mL) ice cold water, approx.

INSTRUCTIONS

In food processor fitted with metal blade, pulse a few times to blend flour and salt (add sugar as well if you're making a sweet pie). Add butter, pulse until mixture resembles coarse breadcrumbs. While pulsing add water in a steady stream, until dough just holds together when pinched. Add 1 more teaspoon (5 mL) of water if necessary, do not over mix. Turn out dough on a lightly floured surface; knead two or three times until it comes together. Shape into disc; wrap tightly in plastic wrap. Refrigerate for 1 hour or until dough is firm enough to roll. On a lightly floured surface, roll pastry into 12-inch (30 cm) circle. Fold dough gently in half, transfer to 9-inch (24 cm) glass pie dish. Brush off any excess flour and trim edges of pastry to fit pie dish or fold under excess and crimp. Refrigerate until ready to use.

"My mom loved to share family time over food. We baked together frequently when I was young. Dad liked to have dessert at least once a week. My mom's absolute favourite was pumpkin pie. One year, we didn't have a can of pumpkin to use, and whole pumpkins were plentiful and cheap, so I offered to bake the pie using a pumpkin if Mom would help me figure out how. We tried a few different methods. We tried peeling the pumpkin before cooking but gave up fairly quickly and decided to just roast it. We tried seasoning it using a pumpkin pie spice blend before roasting, but the spices burned. Eventually, we found our method. Whenever we had anyone over in the fall, there was always a pumpkin pie on the table. Family dinners were always a special time with good conversation and lots of food, and they are now a treasured memory that Dad and I share weekly."

"I grew up on a farm in Fisherville, but my mom was a city girl, born and raised in Hamilton. She had very little baking or cooking experience when she married my father. My father was a mama's boy, and his mama had spoiled him rotten! My grandmother, Emma, insisted my mother learn to cook for my dad, so she passed all her recipes on to my mom. Trust me, these recipes are hard to follow, a handful of this, a finger's length of that, and of course no measurements for anything. This cottage cheese pie is a favourite of our entire family. It's served straight out of the oven, sprinkled with brown sugar or maple syrup. Eating it takes me straight back to my childhood on the farm, every time."

CARROT PUDDING

"My grandparents had a very large family, so a big garden was a necessity. It was easy to grow potatoes and carrots and use them to make a great dessert. They sure knew how to make celebrations special on very little money. This recipe was a family favourite. It was handed down from my grandmother to my mom, and she made it for us every year on Christmas day. Mom would always say, it's not ready to be served until everyone has stirred the love in. That's what Mom said every time she made it, and I've carried the tradition on with my own kids. I still make it today."

JAMAICAN CHRISTMAS CAKE

"I was born in Clarendon, Jamaica. Mama worked for a British family, and when she got married, she was given a cookbook from England. She modified its Christmas Cake recipe by using rum instead of brandy. From age six, she taught me how to bake this cake. My dad had many businesses, and at Christmas, my mom would collect shoe boxes, fill them full of goodies, and distribute them to the men who worked for him. We even sold some as fundraisers for our church's Christmas concerts. When I came to Canada in 1966, I started baking them for Christmas and have continued ever since. I enjoy baking this cake and even ship some to friends around the world."

- Mary

INSTRUCTIONS

Preheat oven to 350°F (180°C). Butter and flour a 10-inch (25 cm) spring form pan. In large bowl, combine wine, rum, prunes, raisins, mixed peel and cherries. If time permits, transfer to large jar and refrigerate for up to 1 month, if not, place fruit and wine mixture in medium saucepan, over medium heat bring to a simmer, cook for about 10 minutes or until fruits are tender and have absorbed some of the liquid. Cool mixture completely.

Measure 1-1/2 cups (375 mL) of the mixture into a food processor; pulse until fruits are the consistency of chutney. Return processed mixture to the remaining fruit and stir in browning. In large bowl, with electric mixer on medium speed, beat together sugar and butter until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, 1 at a time. Beat in lime zest and juice, vanilla and almond extract. In separate bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg and allspice. Add flour mixture to butter mixture; mix to combine. Add fruit mixture and stir to combine well. Toppings: If desired, pour 1/4 cup (60 mL) of rum over cake and allow to soak in for several hours. You can repeat this step as many times as you like allowing rum to soak in before each new addition so that cake is not soggy. Decorate top of cake with glace cherries, serve and enjoy!

"My abuela, Irma, was born and raised in Quezaltepeque, El Salvador. I love that she immigrated to Canada over thirty years ago, but she still cooks only Salvadorian food. Abuela makes the ultimate quesadilla — which is nothing like a Mexican quesadilla — it's a moist dessert cake that is similar to a pound cake. She loves making it for birthdays and holidays as a reminder of our family's history. In her day, back in El Salvador, most people had their babies at home. So, when our family was leaving during the civil war in the eighties, my abuela got all her children's birth certificates at the same time. All six of her children were given January 30th as their birthdays, with the year based on her own memory. It's now a running joke in our family that no one knows their actual birthday, and we all celebrate on the same day!"

"My mom is Dutch, and she has always done lots of Christmas baking. She shares her baking with her friends, family and neighbours, and her whipped shortbread is a holiday tradition. As we got older, we began to help her make it. It started with just icing the shortbread cookies or putting the sprinkles on and, then transitioned to us doing all the baking together. If mom is busy, I bake all the cookies myself. Every year we put together Christmas tins, and we give them to our neighbours, friends and family."

"We lived on a farm, and there were five of us kids, so my mom did a lot of baking. Our tradition throughout my daughter Ashley's growing up years was that we would try different cookie recipes each year. Even though she is now grown, with children of her own, and is a better baker than me, she will still request these cookies every holiday season. I don't make nearly as many cookies as I used to, but I still make these gems for Ashley every Christmas dinner. And they are made with love."

"Patita (my aunt) baked each of us our favourite dessert for Christmas. That was our gift. She is the best baker in the family, and she wouldn't share her recipes with anyone. Moving to Canada made us miss the delicious goodies from her gifted hands. The first year, without her baking, it just wasn't Christmas. After the holidays, I called her and said, I know you are not giving your recipes to anyone, but I need you to share them with me. Patita has always been more than an auntie to me, she is like a mother, and I am like her daughter. She shared the recipes with me. Her alfajores are my favourite. I love to bake, but I will only bake her recipes at Christmas. Just before the pandemic, Patita came to Canada. It was the first Christmas we had spent together in fifteen years. We baked eight cakes! And when we finished, we sat back and said, now it is Christmas."

CHILL TIME: 30 minutes

INGREDIENTS

4 cups (1 L) all-purpose flour, sifted

1-1/4 cups (300 mL) plus 3 tbsp (45 mL) cold GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, cut into 1-inch (2.5 cm) pieces

Preheat oven to 340°F (170°C). Line baking sheets with parchment paper. On floured surface, roll dough into approximately a 10 to 11-inch (25 to 30 cm) circle. With knife, cut the dough into equal quarters and each quarter into 4 wedges. At the base of each wedge place a slice of Turkish delight. Starting from the wide end, roll up each wedge to form crescent (cornulete). Place on prepared baking sheet, about 2-inches (5 cm) apart. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Let cool on pan on rack for 10 minutes. Sift icing sugar over top. Repeat.

"Amama, my grandma, has a great passion for cooking and baking. She bakes her cookies in very large batches and sends them to everyone in our family. She lives in a village in India and bakes her cookies in a traditionally built oven. Its temperature is maintained by burning the wood below it. It has been eight years now that I have been here in Canada. I came as a student, and when I finished my studies, I was given permanent residency. It had been five years since I last saw my family, so I took the opportunity to visit last month. I saw Amama, and after five years, she and I were both in tears. She told this recipe to me, and I wrote it down so that we can bake the same cookies even when we are in different countries."

UVITA'S PAN DE PASCUA

"I love that I grew up in a family where the kitchen was the action hub of the house. There was always something cooking, and we were often thinking of what to make next! This recipe is from my mom. She inspired my passion for cooking and baking from a very early age. I started collecting family and friends' recipes when I was very young - maybe six years old. I love how food brings us together and, in my family, cooking has always been an expression of love. My kids, Diego and Cristina, call my mom Uvita — Uvita derives from Abuelita - and she is the master cook of our family. Our family is a cultural melting pot. I'm originally from Chile, grew up in Venezuela and moved to Canada about twenty years ago. My husband is Mexican, and my kids were born in Canada. Every holiday season, wherever Uvita goes, she brings with her the delicious recipes of our traditional family treats that please everyone. Pan de Pascua is the flavour of Christmas for us and it's like magic!

"This cookie recipe is my mom's. She was always working, but whenever she had time, she would bake simple sweets for us. I loved eating them, and the smell too. My mom was always very busy working during the holiday season. Still, she always made time to make these cookies for us to enjoy. They remind me of her love during my childhood. Now I make them for my own family. They look like perfect little snowballs! I'm from South Korea, and I moved here ten years ago with my sister. Our mom was supposed to come this year, but then the pandemic started. Hopefully, this Christmas, we can gather all together and have these cookies again!"

CHRISTMAS BREAD PUDDING

"From sweet morning pancakes to a ginger ale-soaked ham, Christmas has always been about my mom's kitchen. Shortbread was a staple, at least two apple pies, a batch of scones, and of course, a perfect Christmas pudding. As a child, I could barely stomach the brandy-soaked tradition, but as an adult, I look forward to it every year. When Mom left Ireland in the 1960s, she knew no one but her husband and young son. They were often lonely for home and without much money, so they clung to the one thing they could replicate, their food. The grandchildren still love Nana's pancakes the most. The grown-up children relish her Christmas pudding because they know it's soaked in more than brandy — it's steeped in the history of every Christmas our parents ever knew."

“My grandparents moved to Canada and bought the farm that has now been in our family for four generations. Winters were severe, and they had a large family of eight children. Naturally, self-sufficiency and hard work always included storing up a good supply of canned fruits, jams, and jellies. When baking, big batches were always the way to go. This tasty cookie could be made ahead of time since they keep well, but only if you hide them, as they tend to disappear quickly! I remember my grandmother had a glass cookie jar that she would store the cookies in for Sunday dinners. The original recipe doesn’t include chocolate drizzle, but I like to add it to dress mine up for the holidays.”

PREPARATION: 20 minutes

INGREDIENTS

3/4 cup (175 mL) cold GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted butter, cut into 1/2-inch (1 cm) cubes
2 cups (500 mL) all-purpose flour
2/3 cup (150 mL) granulated sugar
1 egg yolk

Turn solid cookies bottom side up. Dot the centres with approx. 1 tsp (5 mL) of your favourite jam. Top with a lid, gently press so that jam is close to the edges. Serve and enjoy! To store cookies, place in an airtight container in the refrigerator.

"My wife is from Sri Lanka, and I'm Jamaican. When we started dating, it quickly became a theme in our relationship to introduce each other to different foods from our own countries. We began cooking and baking together a lot. I had always loved cooking, and she soon discovered a love of baking. Now she's a busy doctor, and uses it as a way to de-stress. I am inspired by my wife's ability to bring a little taste of Sri Lanka to every Canadian holiday. Watalappan is one of the dishes I tried and loved, and it's one of her favourites too, so it stuck and became a tradition. She makes it every year for Christmas Day."

MALTESE HONEY RINGS

"My mom was born in Malta and moved to Canada in the 1950s. The foundation for her baking is the traditional Maltese baking taught to her by her mother. Most homes didn't have a proper oven to bake in, so my grandmother and mom would walk her pastry down to the local baker so he could bake it for them. Mom was always adamant that my brothers and I learn to cook. She wanted us to be self-sufficient. When I started, I couldn't even reach the counter. She would give me a step stool and a little metal measuring cup, and I would put on my apron — I remember it was a green apron — and I wrapped it around my waist three times to make it fit. Thanks to Mom, I have always been comfortable in the kitchen. Now, as a divorced dad with a teenage daughter, baking is a great way for us to spend time together."

TRADITIONAL PASTRY FILLED WITH SEMOLINA, HONEY AND SPICES, THESE RINGS ARE OFTEN SERVED ALONG WITH A COFFEE OR TEA AND PERFECT FOR DIPPING!

DIFFICULTY: Level 3
CHILL TIME: Overnight

YIELDS: 16 pastries
BAKE TIME: 15-20 per baking sheet

PREPARATION: 60 minutes

INGREDIENTS

FILLING:

1-3/4 cups (425 mL) water	2 tbsp (30 mL) unsweetened cocoa powder	1 tsp (5 mL) each ground nutmeg & cloves
1-1/4 cups (300 mL) honey	2 tbsp (30 mL) marmalade	Zest of one lemon
1/2 cup (125 mL) packed brown sugar	1 tsp (5 mL) ground cinnamon	1-1/4 cups (300 mL) semolina flour

PASTRY:

2-1/2 cups (625 mL) all-purpose flour	1/4 cup (60 mL) fresh orange juice
1/4 cup (60 mL) cold GAY LEA BAKERS GOLD, unsalted, cut into 1/2-inch (1 cm) chunks	1/3 cup (75 mL) water
1 egg, lightly beaten	1/3 cup (75 mL) milk (for brushing)

INSTRUCTIONS

FILLING: In medium pot, on high heat bring water, honey, sugar, cocoa powder, marmalade, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and lemon zest to boil, stirring continuously. Reduce heat to medium low; slowly add semolina, continuously stirring to combine. Mixture will become quite stiff. Cook for 4 to 5 minutes until semolina is cooked (non-gritty texture). Set aside for 30 minutes to cool. Transfer to medium bowl, cover and refrigerate overnight.

PASTRY: In large bowl, using pastry cutter or two knives, cut butter into flour until butter is the size of coarse breadcrumbs and is well dispersed in the flour. In small bowl, whisk together egg, orange juice; add to flour mixture, stirring to start binding the dough. Add water 1 tbsp (15 mL) at a time, until a soft dough is formed. On lightly floured surface, knead the dough together three or four times. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate overnight. Preheat oven to 350°F (180°C). Line baking sheets with parchment paper. Divide the dough into 16 equal pieces (using a scale will give you a consistent size). Dough will be stretchy, use just enough flour to prevent sticking when rolling. Roll each portion into rectangle approx. 3-inches (8 cm) wide by 9-inches (23 cm) long. Using a piping bag fitted with a round tip (or plastic bag with the corner cut out), starting and ending 1/2-inch (1 cm) from the ends pipe a 3/4 to 1-inch (2 to 2.5 cm) wide log onto the pastry. Brush the top and side edges of the pastry with water. Roll filling in pastry and press ends closed. Bring ends together to form a ring, brush with a little water and press ends together to secure. Place rings 1-1/2-inches (4 cm) apart on prepared baking sheet. Make small slits crosswise on the rings cutting down just to expose the filling. Brush pastry lightly with milk. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes. Pastry will be very lightly coloured (not golden). Let cool for 3 minutes on pan. Transfer to rack; let cool completely. Repeat.
